WILHELM AND CAPRIVI.

Herr Von Schlozer Visits Bismarck and Incurs Their Implacable Resentment.

The French Government Intercepts and Returns Italian Emigrants for America.

The Cloture to be Introduced Into Chile for the Benefit of Long Winded Speakers.

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—Her von Schlozer, ex-envoy of the Prussian Government to the Vatican, has given great offence to the Emperor and Chancellor von Caprivi by visiting Bismarck at Varzin. It is unlikely that, after this bold demonstration, he will be received again at court.

Sent Back to Italy.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—In consequence of President Harrison's proclamation for a twenty-days' quarantine and the subsequent decision of the transatlantic companies to carry no more steerage passengers, groups of Italians were intercepted in this city last night, bound for America, via Havre, and informed they could not proceed. They have been sent back to Italy at the expense of the French government.

Hidden Treasure Discovered

DEADWOOD, S.D., Sept. 3.—Wm. S. Dany came into this city yesterday bringing with him several thousand dollars' worth of gold nuggets, and a number of specimens of ore fairly bristling with gold. Dany says he found the "Lost Cabin" mine, of which so many romantic stories have been written. His story is that two weeks ago while hunting in the western part of the Black Hills he stumbled into what he at first supposed was a small cave, but which upon subsequent investigation proved to be a room, 30 by 20 feet, and of an average height of seven feet, rudely hewn out of solid rock. This room contained the skeleton of a human being, which excited his curiosity and induced him to search further. He was rewarded by finding gold nuggets of an aggregate value of $2500. The place was many miles from a settlement, and he remained until a week ago searching for the mine from which the nuggets came. He says he has found it, and states that the ore he has was taken from it. The fact that Dany has so much gold with him makes the story more plausible, and it is creating a great deal of excitement, and will cause numerous prospecting parties to start out to-night. It is not probable that they will find the mine, however, and Dany refuses to describe it more definitely than that it is about 50 miles from Deadwood, in the western part of the Black Hills.

Lady of the White House.

LOON LAKE, Sept. 3.—It was decided before President Harrison left here for New York and Washington that Mrs. Harrison would not assume her duties as mistress of the White House during this autumn or probably next winter. The nervous prostration which has been at the bottom of all her ailments has been and is still of so severe a character as to require the greatest care and absolute rest in restoring her to health. With this object in view it is likely that Mrs. Harrison will go south as soon as the weather here becomes too trying for a longer stay. The doctors have decided that there is no organic impairment of the lungs in their patient.

For the Antique Department.

ALBANY, N. Y, Sept. 3.—World's Fair Commissioner John Boyd Thatcher to-day presented the city of Albany an interesting letter in the shape of an order for Queen Anne to her treasurer, the Earl of Godolphin, to pay the claims of Peter Schuyler, (the first mayor of this city) James Douglas and Abraham Schuyler, 695 pounds 16 shillings, for expenses, etc., in bearing Indian chiefs from Albany to England in 1710. It is in a good state of preservation and is inclosed in an oak frame.

Infamous Imposters.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 3.—"Prince" Michael, the head of the "new and latter House of Israel," who is in state's prison, convicted of having ruined a young girl in his flock, has asked permission of the prison authorities to marry his infamous assistant "Princess" Eliza Courts. His own wife obtained a divorce from him a few weeks ago. News comes from Jackson that the request will be refused.

Will Introduce the Cloture.

VALPARAISO, Sept. 3.—The Chilean squadron of evolution returned to Valparaiso to-day. The work of raising the sunken battle ship Blanco Encalada is progressing favorably, and there is every hope of a successful termination of the work. There is a prospect that the cloture system will be introduced into the Chilean Congress, as members are indulging in lengthy speeches and delaying business.

Heart Disease Suspected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Col. C. P. C. Lewis, ex-Minister to Portugal, was found dead in bed this morning at his residence, 509 River street, Hoboken. He is supposed to have died of heart disease.

Will Resist the Hoodlums.

FRESNO, Cala., Sept. 3.—The committee of safety had a meeting last night and definite action against the hoodlum element was postponed. The friends of Sheriff Hensley represented that the jail was so strongly guarded, because he feared the friends of Sontag, the train robber, might organize, ostensibly to find and lynch the murderer of McWhirter, but in reality to release their friend. The committee agreed to stand by the sheriff to preserve the peace. It is generally understood that if it should become necessary to raid the jail for the murderers, they would also take care of the train robber. The presence in the city of Roberts, the crippled express messenger, gave strength to this statement.

HURLBURT'S RASCALITY.

How Miss Gladys Evelyn Was Trifled With by a Wealthy Scoundrel.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 3.—Aubray Wilfred Murray, the man who was so much sought for during the trial of the famous Evelyn vs. Hurlburt breach of promise case in London, has been discovered, according to the St. Louis Republic. Mr. Murray, an Irishman by birth, formerly an officer in the British army, and now a journalist, came to this country in 1880, and was employed on the New York World by Mr. Hurlburt. He now lives in New Orleans and is city editor of the Delta, the anti-lottery organ. Murray, in an interview with a Republic reporter, admitted his professional relations with Mr. Hurlburt, but emphatically denied that he had ever impersonated the latter or known Gladys Evelyn, who sued Hurlburt in London. "The way my name figured in the scandal," said Mr. Murray, "was this; Hurlburt met Miss Gladys Evelyn, an almost unknown actress, on a London street car. During the street car flirtation he introduced himself to the woman as Wilfred Murray, a New York journalist. You will note that he only used my surname, and he doubtless intended to use my Christian name, but his memory played him false. The liaison thus begun was kept up until it came into court, backed up by a bundle of letters all signed Wilfred. The woman had accepted the man for her lover, believing him to be Wilfred Murray, a not over-wealthy or prominent newspaper worker, and she was satisfied so long as he kept up his attentions to her, but when he left her to marry another, she brought suit and soon discovered that her ex-lover was the elegant and somewhat illustrious William H. Hurlburt, then married to a wealthy woman. Hurlburt beat Miss Evelyn on the first trial, but the matter was taken before Parliament and such proof was laid before that body that a new trial was ordered, and criminal proceedings being instituted against him, Hurlburt fled the country and the detectives of the British Government are now scouring the world for him. Detectives were sent out here after me several times, but I declined to go, as I did not care to testify against a man with whom I had once been intimately associated. A witness cannot be extradited, and for that reason Miss Evelyn will not get my assistance. What the plaintiff wants to show by me is, first, that I am not the man who wrote the letters; and second, that "Murray" was a person familiar with Hurlburt. Prosecution of such offences is not barred by any statute of limitations, and I doubt if Mr. Hurlburt will ever again be able to live openly in any country with which Great Britain has an extradition treaty."

Found Everything Satisfactory.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Private letters from Butaritari say that the Nicaraguan steamer Monserrat, Capt. Blackburn, which left here last May for Gilbert Island to transport about 1000 natives from there to San Benito to work on Mexican coffee plantations, was at Butaritari when the British war ship Royalist arrived. Capt. Davis immediately went on board the Monserrat, where he found 60 natives. The captain made a thorough examination of the steamer and expressed himself as satisfied with the accommodations prepared for the natives, and in no way interfered with the work.

The Fighting of the Pamir.

The fighting which is in progress between the Russians and Afghans on the Pamir is fighting above the clouds, and very far above them, too. The wild and inhospitable region which is the scene of the conflict is called by its inhabitants "the roof of the world"—an appropriate name, since most of it is a plateau lying from 15,000 to 18,000 feet above the sea level.

Readers of Rudyard Kipling's remarkable story, "The Man Who Would Be King," will remember the vivid description it contains of the Pamir and its fierce natives. Recent explorers have confirmed the early reports that it is one of the most inaccessible portions of the world.

The hostilities in the Pamir derive their importance from the fact that this is the bone of contention between Russia and England. The path across the Pamir leads from the Russian possessions to India. Russia has laid claim to the country, and a few months ago she ordered some British explorers out of the Pamir. For her own safety England wishes the Afghans and natives to retain possession of these mountain passes and fortresses, and her agents are at present inciting them to opposition to Russia. It is on the Pamir that the future war between Russia and Great Britain will probably be joined.—N.Y. World.

IT STILL KEEPS COMING.

No Cessation of the Siege Which Cholera is Making Upon the American Coasts.

Three Great Hamburg Passenger Steamers Ordered Into Quarantine.

They All Had Deaths on Board Crossing the Atlantic—Echoes of the Cholera.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The steamers Rugia, Normannia and Stuebenhuk all arrived from Hamburg this morning. All report deaths from cholera during the voyage over.

The World says it received information late last night that two more cases of cholera had developed on board the infected immigrant ship Moravia, now lying at anchor in the lower bay. Dr. Jenkins refused to affirm or deny this. At midnight the health officer's tug got up steam and Dr. Jenkins and Dr. Tallmadge, his assistant, suddenly appeared on the dock clad in heavy overcoats. They boarded the tug and steamed towards New York. In a few minutes, as the lights on the tugboat grew dim, the boat was turned about in midstream and started down towards the quarantine station in the lower bay. Dr. Sanbourne, one of the health officers, has been constantly on duty on the Moravia since Wednesday. He came ashore this morning and returned to the ship at noon. He was expected back at quarantine during the middle of the afternoon, but did not return. At 5 o'clock the tug came back from the Moravia, bringing a sealed letter to Dr. Jenkins. A consultation was held between Dr. Jenkins and Dr. Tallmadge. They announced that they had no news to give out concerning the Moravia. It was stated to a World reporter from unofficial sources that two new cases of cholera had developed among the immigrant passengers. They were said to be a man and a woman.

List of the Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The steamship Normandie, which arrived this morning from Hamburg reported five deaths at sea from cholera. Three of these were cabin passengers and two steerage. There are now three cases of cholera in the ship's hospital. The steamer Rugia arrived this morning from Hamburg and reported four deaths from cholera on the voyage, ten of her passengers are now ill with the plague. Both the Rugia and Normandie are quarantined in the lower bay. Quarantine is being maintained on the Normandie. Carl Haggert, 57 years, second cabin passenger, died on Aug. 30th. Jacob Hynermann, 45 years, first cabin, died August 21st. Ottilie Storm, 11 months, died August 30, Willie Storm, three years, September 1; Adolf Scholzon, one year, September 2. The cases of Heinrich Frakeheiser, 39 years; Rudolf Humisch, 11 months; Selina Storm, five years; Marie Bonichsen, 61 years, are all cholerine. On the Rugia: Bertha Koenig, 49 years, died August 28; Carl Koenig, 11 years, died August 29; Rosine Sterra, one year, August 31; Edward Sterra, age 30, September 1. The cases of Helene Boganski, aged 27; Paul Koening, age 18, Johan Buss, aged 54; Arion Peters, 62 years; Kosina Disheas, 24 years, are also cholerine. On the Moravia a child of eight years has cholera.

The Doctor's Statement.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—At 11:15 this morning Dr. Jenkins, after a much-needed rest was seen by the reporters, and said, for publication, "gentlemen according to my reports there were nine cases of cholera on the Rugia; there are five convalescents and four deaths. On the Normandie, there were five deaths, and there are now four convalescents. On the Moravia there is one additional case of cholerine, it is an eight year old boy, he is convalescent. Most of the cases are very serious. Further deaths are expected to-day. All three ships will be held indefinitely. All the sick and dead embarked at Hamburg. The Rugia has been isolated as much as possible and everything, of course, will be done to prevent the spread of the disease. Many of the steerage passengers are known to have come from infected districts. All the patients who are fit to be moved will be taken to the hospital as soon as possible. In the meantime disinfectants are liberally used."

Just Like Albert Head.

QUEBEC, Sept. 3.—The international committee of quarantine inspectors, who, yesterday, paid a visit to the quarantine station at Grosse Isle, in the St. Lawrence River, say that they consider the present equipment of the station to be inadequate to protect the territory depending on it against the importation of cholera or other contagious diseases. The chief deficiencies are:

1st.—No wharf adequate for the safe and speedy landing of passengers and their effects, and at which vessels may be disinfected.

2nd.—No suitable disinfecting apparatus for either baggage or vessels.

3rd.—No proper accommodation for the detention of suspects.

4th.—No adequate and safe water supply, either for washing, bathing, drinking or any other necessary purposes.

On account of these deficiencies the commission considers that nothing less than total exclusion of immigrants and their effects, and of vessels coming from infected ports will furnish sufficient protection against the introduction of cholera or other contagious diseases through this port.

A Phyllis of the Farm.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Robert Hotaling, a farmer of Dormansville, this county, came to town to-day to get his pretty, 14-year old daughter Carrie. He told the chief of police that he thought she had been enticed away by a youth of 20, named Frank Clark, who only lately arrived in the little hamlet in search of work. It was not until Frank and Carrie had driven away together on Tuesday last that Farmer Hotaling learned the relations existing between them.

Tragic Shipwreck off Southampton, Ont., and Gallant Rescue of the Lone Survivor.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 3.—The switch work of the Toronto Street Railway Company, now being put in at the corner of King and York streets where the double tracks of both streets cross, and where a double switch is made in three directions, is the most complicated switch ever made in Canada. It was constructed in Montreal and consists of 900 pieces, and cost $5000.

Foundered in Heavy Weather.

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont., Sept. 3.—On Wednesday night during a heavy gale from the north the schooner Nettie Woodward, in trying to make Southampton harbor, and when about two miles out, was struck by a heavy sea and turned over on her beam ends. The crew, with one exception, climbed on to the main mast. The mate Joseph Greathead, got on a hatch and drifted away. His body was found on the beach this morning about a mile south of the harbor. Captain Caldwell and three sailors held on to the mast all night. About 3 this morning N. Mabon perished in the captain's arms from exhaustion, and his body was washed from the spar, and drifted away, and has not yet been found. At daylight the wreck was seen by Captain W. Lambert, the light-house keeper on Chantry Island, who at once put off in a small skiff, only 12 feet long, and bravely rescued the unfortunate survivor, who, but for his timely efforts, would have found a watery grave. The Nettie Woodward was owned by Caldwell and was uninsured. She was partly loaded with cordwood, which was owned by Dr. Lawney of Sauble Mills.

Killed by the Cars.

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—A shocking accident occurred on Church street yesterday, resulting in the death of Miss Hannah Heron, of Scarboro township. She was anxious so catch a car going down town and ran across the street diagonally, right in front of a swiftly approaching trolley. She was nearly over the crossing when the car caught her dress; she was dragged under the wheels which passed over both legs, severing them below the knee. Six hours later death came to her relief.

Getting Ready for Business.

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—The stringing of the trolley wires on the exhibition routes has begun. Twenty cars will arrive from Coburg by Monday, and will have the motors attached at the Royal Electric Works. By Monday week the first electric motors will be running to the exhibition grounds.

Was Favorably Received.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 3.—The Rev. Dr. Douglas of Montreal, who visited Kingston in the interests of his college endowment scheme, is in bad health. The scheme met with a cordial reception here, and is now in the hands of local Methodists, who will pursue the canvass.

Mrs. Law and child fell through a sidewalk grating opposite the Begbie block last night. The child escaped uninjured, but Mrs. Law injured her spine.

The British Columbia exhibit to the eastern fairs was shipped to-day.

Mrs. Cota, who was beaten into insensibility by her husband, is improving this morning. Medical men think the case will not now prove fatal if brain fever does not set in.

William Bowyer, injured by an explosion of gun powder, still lingers in a precarious condition.

A washout occurred on the tramway line last night, and the cars were delayed.

News has reached the city of a serious fire at Chilliwack yesterday afternoon on the farm of McRae & Campbell. The threshers were at work on a barn full of wheat, the machine being in the barn and the engine a short distance outside. A spark from the smokestack set fire to the chaff around the engine. A strong wind was blowing and with lightning rapidity the flames spread, first to a field of eight acres of wheat which was cut and stacked, and then to the barn. The thresher was got out slightly injured, but the barn with all its contents was destroyed, as was also an entire field of wheat adjoining. So rapid were the flames that in a quarter of an hour the whole thing was over. The owners estimate their loss at $1500.

NORTHWEST POLITICS.

An Opposition Manifesto—A Charge of Bribery and a Libel Suit.

REGINA, Sept. 2.—Thirteen Opposition members of the Northwest Assembly have drawn up and forwarded a memorial to the Dominion Government protesting against the action of Governor Royal in proroguing the Assembly in the midst of the "ministerial crisis." The manifesto states that the Opposition protests against prorogation, because it was done on the advice of the Executive that has not the confidence of the Assembly, and takes control of affairs out of the hands of the Assembly; because it kills the most important legislation passed during the session, and leaves the affairs of the country in an unsatisfactory state; because there was no necessity for prorogation, for though Premier Cayley failed to nominate a person for Speakership who will accept the position, one of the Opposition members (Magrath) was willing to accept the position in order that the public business should be properly carried on, and notified the Governor to that effect. Because of Lieut.-Governor Royal's conduct in this matter, the Opposition members specifically charge him with being a political partisan and doing the country great injury by acting contrary to constitutional law and usage.

Sutherland, one of the Opposition members, has made a declaration charging Mowat, a member of the new Executive, with offering him a bribe of $250 if he would take the Speakership and support the new Executive. This charge would have been made on the floor of the House had the Assembly not been so summarily prorogued. A warrant has been served upon Sutherland to answer to a charge of libel in asserting that Mowat offered him a bribe. Premier Cayley asserts there is nothing in the bribery charge.

There is considerable excitement over the prorogation and attendant incidents. The question of dissolution is largely discussed, the majority of the people being opposed to dissolution. So far the Governor has not given any indication of what his intentions are in this matter, but it is not considered likely that he will dissolve the House. If he does it will be against the wishes of the new Executive, for Mr. Cayley expresses himself strongly against such a course.

CANADIAN NOTES.

News by Mail and Wire From All Parts of the Dominion.

Two men named Ellis, father and son, were buried under a fall of rock and earth while working in the stone quarry near Calgary. Both were killed.

H. M. S. Hyacinthe will recommission at Esquimalt in October. One hundred and seventy sailors, with their effects, will then be transported beween England and Esquimalt, via the C.P.R.

Mayor McShane has been asked by the Young Irishmen's Literary and Benefit Association of Montreal to call a meeting of citizens to arrange for a reception to Hon. Edward Blake, M. P.

The schooner Nettie Woodward foundered on Lake Huron while trying to reach Southampton for shelter from a severe storm. The lighthouse keeper rescued all the crew but two, who were drowned.

Premier Abbott has returned to his country residence at St. Anne from a yachting trip down the St. Lawrence. He complains of a lack of mental force, the least discussion, even a lengthy conversation, fatiguing him and causing extreme weakness. He looks considerably better than when he left.

It is now certain that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has decided to establish a fast line of Atlantic steamers running to Montreal. The idea is to get the British Government to grant a subsidy and send the China and Japan traffic right through by the Canadian Pacific instead of sending it via New York, as is done at present.

The Dominion rifle matches closed Friday. Sergeant Drysdale, Montreal, won the Governor-General's prize; Mumford, of the 63rd, second; Jamieson, 43rd, third. The latter tied with Henderson, 62nd, but beat him in the shoot-off. Ontario won the London Merchants Cup, Prince Edward Island second. The Bisley twenty are: Bishop and Mumford, 63rd; Henderson, Langstroth, Burns, 62nd; Cartwright, 47th; Mitchell and Simpson, 12th; Wilson, 33rd; Pope, Vics; Ellis and Tink, Guards; Rolston and Heaven, 20th; Greene, 21st; Drysdale, Montreal Artillery; Stevens, 65th; Mitchell, 90th.

In speaking of the proclamation of President Harrison, Sir John Abbott said: "Secretary Foster takes exception to what he claims to be a veiled threat in the Canadian Government's communication that, should his Government impose tolls on Canadian vessels using the Sault Ste. Marie canal, the Canadian Government would not consider itself bound to observe the promise made at the Council meeting. It was not intended as a threat, veiled or otherwise, but simply to convey an intimation that should the U. S. Government take any action of this kind this would enter into our consideration when the matter was again brought forward. Thh Government merely wished not to pledge itself to any definite policy until it was known what steps the U. S. might take, and the Order-in-Council was on these lines and carrying out these lines."

Appropriated by the Government.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 3.—A few weeks ago a rumor became current here that a sister in the Conception convent had discovered in the archives of that institution an old document which stated that $2,000,000 in gold was buried at the time of the war with the French, by the lady superior of the convent. The location of the treasure was given as house No. 5 Progress street, which was formerly a part of the convent. The work of excavating for the money was begun a few days ago by workmen under the direction of the priests of the convent. The news of the affair reached President Diaz, and he immediately ordered the priests to suspend operations, and the work was placed in charge of the Government. The treasure was unearthed yesterday and will be turned into the general treasury.

The Canadian Short Route.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The meeting in London this week of Messrs. Van Horne, Angus and Osler attracts attention in the city. Mr. Van Horne's visit is officially announced as a holiday, though it is expected he will try to put the fast Atlantic service on a sure footing. There is little hope now that the Allans or any other existing lines will take up the matter seriously. Moreover, outsiders have not shown any desire to embark capital in the scheme. The impression is that the Canadian Pacific Railway must itself assume the direct auspices of the service. It is hoped that the British treasury will give more than the usual war cruiser allowance to the vessels engaged in a fast Atantic service, owing to the great advantage it would be in the way of completing the now acknowledged new transport route to the east. This belief is strengthened by the fact that the Admiralty has renewed its expressions of satisfaction with the C.P.R. route for the transport of marines and blue jackets. The crew of H.M.S. Hyacinthe re-commisions at Esquimalt in October. Parties of 170 sailors with their officers will be exchanged between England and Esquimalt via the C.P.R. The Allan line hoped that this use of the road would help the movement for Imperial aid towards the Atlantic service.

Laid in Ashes.

SPOKANE, Sept. 2.—Conconully, the county seat of Okanogon county, was burned to the ground between the hours of 1 and 3 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Nothing remains of the town proper save the schoolhouse, the courthouse and a drug store. Persons that saw the fire state that it had its own way from the first. The fire started at 1 o'clock, in a new store building recently erected by R. Hunter & Co., who intended to occupy it with a stock of general merchandize. The inside work was not completed, and painters had been working there until midnight, when they left. The first intimation of the danger was when flames broke out all over the building. The entire town was illuminated. The building was of wood, and burned rapidly. In a short time the entire population was on the street. Within five minutes after the flames first broke out in the Hunter building a dozen other houses were burning. Conconully, the county seat of Okanogon county, has a population of 500. It is situated at the forks of the Conconully river, 15 miles west of the Okanogan. It was the first mining town in the district, and was formerly known as Salmon City. Mineral Hill, on which are situated some of the best mines in the Northwest, rises at one side of the town.

Contraband Chinamen.

MONTEREY, Cal., Sept. 2.—Considerable excitement was caused here this morning by the capture by Constable A. J. Wolter and E. McMichaels of 19 Chinamen who are supposed to be contraband. They were landed at Pescadero, two miles south of this place, at 1 o'clock this morning, by the schooner Halcyon, which was last seen at Victoria, B. C., three months ago. The fact that the Chinese living at Pescadero have been burning fires on the beach at the latter place for several nights past has caused the officers of this place to suspect that the fires were intended as a landmark for some vessel which intended to land opium or Chinese. The authorities at San Francisco have been notified and are expected here to-day. It was learned that the Halcyon has unstamped opium aboard amounting, it is reported, to about $300,000. The commander of the vessel having learned of the capture of the Chinese immediately put to sea.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 2.—An expedition consisting of nine members of the Danish navy, under command of Lieut. Kyder, has returned to Iceland, after passing the winter in Scoresbys Land, at Greenland, at a place situated in latitude 20.27 minutes north. The work of the expedition consists of exploring the country and collecting specimens of everything of interest that can be obtained. Great scientific results have already been achieved. The expedition will return to Greenland at the end of the month.

LOST IN LAKE SUPERIOR.

Twenty-One Lives Lost in the Foundering of a Steamship.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 2.—The tug T. M. B. A. arrived last night, having as a passenger Henry Stewart of Algonac, Mich., pilot and only survivor of the steel steamer Western Reserve, which foundered on Tuesday morning about 9 o'clock, 60 miles above Whitefish Point, bound to Keewenaw. The Western Reserve left the Sault on Tuesday, having on board as passengers Capt. Peter Minch, the owner, his wife, two children and sister-in-law, besides the regular crew of 22 men. Everything went well until about 60 miles above Whitefish Point, when the first warning of danger was a terrible crash caused by the great craft breaking in two. She took water fast, and the boats were lowered. Capt. Minch, family, officers and crew to the number of 17 got into a wooden boat and the others took a metallic one. The ship sank in 10 minutes, and before she was out of sight the metallic boat capsized. The other boat succeeded in rescuing two of the occupants, and the 19 survivors started for Whitefish Point. There was a heavy sea, but the boat weathered the breakers all night until 7 next morning. When about 10 miles from life-saving station No. 10, and about a mile from shore, the boat capsized. Stewart says he saw none of the occupants afterwards. The cries of the children, women and men were terrible for a few moments. He struck out for shore, and after two hours in the water landed about 10 miles above the station and had to walk there before reaching assistance. Search failed to reveal a trace of any other survivors of the wreck. A dispatch from Deer Park says three bodies and a boat from the wrecked steamer were cast up by the waves near there to-day. The body of Capt. Minch, owner of the lost steamer, was one of them. He was identified by a watch found on his person. The two other bodies are unidentified, one being that of a pretty, dark-haired woman.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 2.—The steamer Western Reserve left Cleveland last Sunday afternoon for Two Harbors, Mich., for iron ore. On board, in addition to the crew, were the principal owner, P. G. Minch, a wealthy ship owner of this city, his wife, his son Charlie, aged ten, a daughter of six, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Engelby, of Vermilion, and the latter's daughter, Bertha, nine years old. They were out for recreation.

NEWBERRY, Mich., Sept. 2.—Up to 10 this morning three bodies have been recovered from the wreck of the Western Reserve. They are Capt. Minch, a lady supposed to be his wife and an unknown lady only partially clothed, through being hurried from her bed to the boats to escape.

Troops Ordered Forward.

SIMLA, Sept. 2.—A mountain battery and several battalions of Punjaub infantry and cavalry have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to reinforce the troops in the Wanagomu valley in the event of the Ameer of Afghanistan failing to recall his agents, who are disturbing the peace of the Indian frontier.

THE OKANAGAN VALLEY.

Farmers and Their Crops—Kelowna's Progress—General News.

Mr. Quin Faulkner, of White Valley, has leased his ranch to Mr. McGregor for a term of five years.

There are nine steam threshing machines at work in the Okanagan country, and several horsepower machines.

The new agent for the Vernon station, Mr. Edward Goulet, arrived in town on Monday from Ashcroft.

Chief Williams, of the Okanagan Indians, now boasts of a reaping machine, and the News says the Indians are now reaping the benefits of their efforts to adopt the methods of the white man.

Mr. Mara, M.P., has visited the lower part of the Okanagan country and the residents of that district are looking for better postal facilities.

Mr. McKendry, of the Salmon River valley, had the misfortune last week to break his leg at the small bone near the ankle.

There was a bear excitement at Lansdowne the other day. Arthur Campbell got one up a tree. He put a fire around the bottom of the tree to keep the animal from coming down, and then set out for the village to give the alarm. Before anyone could get there the bear had got down, and as it was then dark, it managed to get off.

Dr. Robertson, superintendent of Presbyterian missions, is visiting in the Spallumcheen and Okanagan country.

Horsemen at the Mission had quite an event last week. A roan mare which had beaten everything in the lower country, and was considered invincible at Colville and points north, was matched by Siwashes against Neil Hardy's Pinto horse, with the result that Hardy's horse beat it badly.

The new townsite of Kelowna, in the Mission Valley, now boasts a twenty-five room hotel, livery stable, public hall, blacksmith shop, implement warehouse, boarding house, real estate office and 12 dwelling houses. A pork-packing establishment is likely to be arranged for in a short time. The new hotel was opened with a grand ball on Friday last.

White Valley farmers report that they have difficulty in procuring sufficient sacks for their grain.

The fall fair is being talked up and active an committee are soliciting subscriptions for horse races to take place the week of the exhibition.

A football club has been organized in Mara district and they expect to be able to hold their own with any kickers in the district.

Enderby sportsmen are making a race track. It is to be a half mile oval track, and when completed will be one of the best half mile tracks in the province, being level from start to finish.

Harvesting around Enderby is in full blast and some are nearly done. The weather so far has been all that could be wished for.

Mr. Bacon, one of the Spallumcheen river ranchers, is very sick and not expected to recover.

MR. GLADSTONE AT 82.

Personal Characteristics of Great Britain's Veteran Premier.

It must be interesting to inquire, says the London Hospital, how it is that Mr. Gladstone although 82 years of age, has shown himself capable of leading a political contest in which he has taken the most active part, without injury to his health, and apparently without experiencing great or even inconvenient fatigue. From inquiries we have made we believe Mr. Gladstone's astonishing robustness to be due to three causes; a sound constitution which he has had the wisdom to husband and protect; a devoted wife, who has allowed nothing to prevent her from giving the closest continuous attention to the well-being, preservation and protection from worry of her husband, and the fact that thanks to a grateful patient of the London Hospital Mr. Gladstone's health has been committed to the medical charge of a physician, Sir Andrew Clark, than whom no one is better qualified, by high scientific attainment and sound common sense, to shield a man of affairs from the many risks which have in past times frequently cut short the career of eminent statesmen. A man is, after all, very frequently his own physician, although it has been said with truth that self doctors have fools for their patients. Still, no medical care can equal precautionary measures a man can take where his own health is concerned. All of us need every day not too much, but at the same time enough good food and an adequate time in bed and asleep, sleep being the rock on which many men go to pieces in these days of hurry and rush

Now to be certain of securing sleep, it is essential to take each day a sufficiency of outdoor exercise, so that the system may become physically tired. Hence, Mr. Gladstone's love of tree-felling has probably done more than anything else to conserve his wonderful staying power. In such matters as diet and sleep, and any one normally sound in health, who attends to them, is nearly sure to be free from serious illness, each of us ought to be capable of adequately providing for himself. In the case of ordinary mortals a few simple precautions will secure that the individual shall live, and not merely exist, seeing that life is not to live, but to be well. All this Mr. Gladstone has discovered and learned to believe, and so he has come to be to-day a phenomenal instance of the best physical type of our race. The family of Mr. Gladstone have devoted themselves to their father's interests for years. Everything is so regulated as to secure to Mr. Gladstone the minimum of worry, and he is saved from all avoidable fatigue. If work is wanted to be done, there are always willing hands free to undertake and complete it without delay or remonstrance. All correspondence is carefully sorted and weighed, and none but important letters are brought to notice on busy days. Mrs. Gladstone's solicitude for the care of her husband is a notable example for all wives, and to her care Mr. Gladstone has often attributed his escapes from illness, and not a little of his continuous good health. Yet Mrs. Gladstone never neglects her other duties. We can, speaking from experience, declare that Mrs. Gladstone, at the very busiest time of the year, has most cheerfully and effectually aided the hospitals by her pen, while her convalescent home at Woodford is one of the most economically conducted institutions in the world.

The Premier of the British Empire has little time to think of himself or his own health and requirements. The strain upon mind and body is truly appalling to those who have a precise knowledge of the duties and responsibilities of this high office of state. So the duty of conserving and maintaining the health of the head of the government is by no means a light one; but Mr. Gladstone's condition to-day proves that Sir Andrew Clark is facile princeps. The physician in charge of such a patient has to look after the regime, diet, exercise and hours of rest, to see that there is no undue strain in any direction, and to exercise sufficient tact to win his patient to like the ways which in his case tend to the continuance of sound health. All this and much more Sir Andrew has successfully accomplished in Mr. Gladstone's case, and the credit of this remarkable success must be shared by Mrs. Gladstone, to whom Sir Andrew would be first to acknowledge his indeptedness.

ELECTRICAL PROGRESS.

Many New Directions in Which the Fluid is Now Being Used.

St. Louis Post Dispatch.]

It appears from a French patent granted August 7, 1852, to Dr. Albert Sonnenberg of Bremen, Germany, that the magneto-electric machine and accessories forming the subject matter of this patent had actually been used to produce a current for killing whales. According to descriptions, the harpoon line carried a conducting wire connected with an electro magnet whose one pole furnished current by this means to the harpoon, and whose other pole was in electrical connection with the metallic bottom of the boat, thus completing the circuit through the sea water.

The account of this pioneer method of electric execution adds that "when the harpoon is launched into the whale the circuit is completed and the electric fluid passes through the body of the whale and the latter receives at each rotation of the machine 12 heavy shocks, and as the machine can make one turn per second the whale will receive 720 shocks per minute, or such a force as to stun or render the whale unconscious."

There are no overhead wires at the World's Fair grounds. An immense conduit, six and one-half feet square, has been built directly under Machinery Hall, running across the grounds slightly below the surface to the electrical building, from which branches are carried to other sections of the exhibit. Arms are to be carried on both sides of this conduit just long enough to leave space in the centre for a man to walk through conveniently whenever it is necessary to inspect the wires or make any repairs.

Elihu Thomson is of the opinion that telephonic communication across the ocean will never be possible, because in cables of such length a retardation and obliteration of the delicate pulses of current which characterize electrical speech serve to prevent the reception of speech at the far end of the line.

Electricity is making great progress in Japan. Tokio has an electrical society having over a thousand members, and Nippon is forming an electric light association. There are 1014 telegraph offices in the country, and a telephone exchange in Tokio having 1000 subscribers connects with a long distance line to Osaka, a distance of about 350 miles. There are 12 electric lighting stations in the country at present and two electric roads under consideration.

The veto put upon the trolley system of electric traction both in New York and Philadelphia has turned the attention of inventors more than ever to the long-hoped-for perfection of either the storage battery or conduit system. A short line has been operating in Chicago, using the new style of underground conduit, which, after a few breakdowns has been running successfully under varying conditions, and a longer one has been successfully operating under favorable conditions in Buda-Pesth for some time past. Nevertheless, either from the comparative cheapness of the trolley system or its more pronounced success up to the present time, it seems to monopolize the attention of the large manufacturing companies to the exclusion of its more theoretically perfect rivals.

A method of testing the condition of live arc circuits has been devised which is stated to be entirely successful. Instead of waiting until the station is shut down to locate trouble on high potential wires, they can be attended to at once and a large element of danger and current waste averted. A Boston man has invented a glove having wire gauze strips of copper and zinc and contacts for keeping a slight current of electricity circulating through the wearer's hand.

Tests recently made by members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers on the life and efficiency of incandescent lamps show that of 127 lamps tested of 10 different makes the mean horizontal candlepower was only 14·5, instead of 16, as labeled; that candlepower diminishes fairly uniformly at the rate of about 10 per cent. for each 200 hours the lamp is burned, and that only 96 out of the 127 burned at any candlepower longer than 1100 hours.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Herald says: One of the largest bets made yesterday on the Sullivan-Corbett fight was that of "Maggie" Cline, the variety actress, who through her agent, John Ryan of Brooklyn, wagered $8000 on Sullivan. "Maggie" says "John L. will drop Jim Corbett quick and hard."

FOR BUSINESS MEN!

LIFE IN EVERY DROP!

In these days of competition and rushing ahead, men are inclined to forget the needs of the body, and keep continually on the race-track of work, commerce and science, until the constitution is broken down. Men may continue for years in this rush after riches and fame without apparent detriment to health; but the day of reckoning comes as surely as night follows day. The laws of nature have been severely transgressed; the ordinary rules of sensible living have been neglected or cast aside. The body has been overworked, the brain has been overtaxed and subjected to too great a strain, sleep and rest have been neglected and improperly used.

What do we find as the result of this mad and suicidal course of living? Human wrecks on the great sea of life! Men left helpless, broken up, and many of them just approaching the grave.

It is for such subjects as these that we honestly and strongly recommend the use of Paine's Celery Compound, a remedy specially adapted to meet such terrible conditions. Experience in our land has amply proved the value of the agent so earnestly recommended. Its works speaks louder than columns of newspaper matter; its wonderful cures are sufficient evidences of its priceless worth.

Hundreds of businesss men in Canada to-day owe their present good health to the marvellous powers of Paine's Celery Compound; they candidly acknowledge its honesty and curative properties.

Our object is simply to bring to the notice of all who are in danger, the fact that there is an unfailing agent they may use, and by which they may obtain a new life and extended years.

Paine's Celery Compound has no equal; no other medicine can take its place and do its work; it is the only one of its kind in the world. Try it, sufferer; one bottle will convince you that you have found truth and honesty; in every drop there is new life.

THE QUARANTINE SERVICE.

More German ships with cholera aboard have arrived at New York, and it is quite evident that the health authorities there will have hard work to prevent the disease gaining a foothold in the city, whence it might easily be carried inland. They have the advantage, however, of possessing a well equipped quarantine station, supplied with all the modern appliances for disinfection and cleansing. There is yet a hope that the infection may be kept off shore, since the facilities for fighting it are so good. It is practically impossible for the disease to slip through unnoticed where a close watch is kept. Cholera develops in the infected person in three days at most, and it would almost to a certainty make its presence known on any vessel sailing from Hamburg before New York was reached. There is, however, some slight chance of the undeveloped germs being carried ashore in clothes or baggage, a danger which only thorough disinfection will avert. The lack of efficient appliances for such work at Grosse Isle is the most disquieting feature of the situation. The St. Lawrence station is not equipped like that at New York, and the arrival there of an affected ship from Hamburg would be cause for uneasiness. So far there has been no importation of the disease by the Canadian route. It may be that the cold weather will have come before any cases reach the Canadian shore, when we shall have more efficient protection than anything our poor quarantine service can furnish. It is to be noted, by the way, that the commission of health officers appointed by the United States Government to inspect the Canadian quarantine stations on both coasts will be very likely to report unfavorably thereon. People in Eastern Canada fear that in this event an edict will go forth from Washington excluding Canadian traffic, with the awkwardness of which measure Victoria has lately had experience. Our Government is remarkably slow in adopting the necessary measures for improving the quarantine service that have been so forcibly called to its attention, as it is slow in taking any step that is required in the public interest but is not calculated to bring grist to its own political mill. Perhaps such an event as the practical quarantining of the whole of Canada will serve to awaken it from its lethargy.

TRADE MATTERS.

In commenting on an article by Mr. Wiman, entitled "Interest and Loyalty in Canada," the London Spectator furnishes further evidence that Englishmen are not so much afraid as certain Canadians are of the possible effects on British trade interests of complete reciprocity between Canada and the United States. It is claimed by the Canadian Liberals that this policy would have a tendency to increase Great Britain's trade by increasing the prosperity, and consequently the purchasing power, of Canada. It would also have a strong tendency to indirectly increase Britain's trade with the States. As to Canadian loyalty to British connection, there need be no fear of any bad effects flowing from free trade with the States, or free trade in any direction. The removal of trade barriers would mean increased prosperity, which in turn would render content among our people, and every person knows that discontent is the great breeder of political agitation. The Spectator's utterances show that philosophical Englishmen are inclined to fall in with this view. Speaking of Mr. Wiman's article it says:—

He declares, and we believe rightly, that commercial union between the United States and Canada, or something approaching commercial union, would be of the greatest possible benefit, not only to Canada and the United States, but also to England. Our trade is not only absolutely but relatively vastly far greater with the United States than with Canada. Anything, then, which helps Canada to come into line commercially with America, and also enriches America, must benefit us. Again anything which increased the good-will between us and the United States would be immensely to our advantage. But, unquestionably, good-will would be increased if trade passed freely from the land under the Stars and Stripes to the land under the Union Jack. The idea that Canadian loyalty to the Mother country would be impaired by commercial union is, Mr. Wiman holds, nonsense, and in this we agree with him. Canada is far more likely to join the States if she continues to remain shut out from the continental trade than if she is allowed to enjoy it. Under commercial union the idea of political amalgamation would cease to have the slightest attraction. "When," he says, "all the material advantages possible to political union are secured by the simpler and earlier commercial union which is immediately possible Canada will be secure for all time to Great Britain."

This quotation may be commended to the attention of those Canadians who have so little faith in Canadian attachment to Great Britain that they fear it would degenerate if we were to trade freely with our neighbors. But we need not wait for the conclusion of a reciprocity treaty with the States to enjoy some of the advantages of freer trade. We can proceed on the line of Mr. Davies' amendment of last session and reduce or remove altogether the duties now imposed on articles which we import only from Great Britain. That would at once be a practical step towards the encouragement of trade with the Mother Country and a lessening of the burden of taxation on ourselves. Then there are heavy duties levied on certain classes of articles which are not produced, and are not likely to be produced, in Canada. The tax on mining machinery, for instance, lays a very heavy burden on the mining industry, while its "protective" influence is practically nil. Such a duty is a direct hindrance to production and has no fostering effect. This is only one of many such taxes imposed by our stupid tariff, and illustrates a feature of our fiscal system that may at once be reformed with good results.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Colonist seems to have been set adrift on a sea of difficulties by either its inability or its unwillingness to appreciate the difference between Davieism and wise administration. It cannot, in any event, free itself from the charge of stupidity, for it should be able to see that an attempted defence of Davieism must prove a failure. As to the matter of an autocrat, we may once more remind the Colonist that the TIMES was speaking of Chinatown sanitation when it referred to the possible necessity of autocratic measures. The TIMES has not so far taken leave of its senses, and therefore has never been guilty of the foolishness of calling for an autocrat who would look chiefly to his own interest and not to that of the public.

Minister Foster has a surplus of $273,000 to show for the fiscal year 1891-92, which is stated to be "a very satisfactory showing, considering the remission of the sugar duties." As the Minister in his budget speech calculated on a surplus of not more than $5000, the actual surplus is, comparatively speaking, a "satisfactory showing." But when it is remembered that the present Government has a habit of charging to capital account many items of expenditure which should be paid out of the revenue, there seems to be a very strong chance that the alleged surplus is entirely fictitious. There is no advantage gained by adding to the national debt in order to present the appearance of a surplus.

The sapient Vancouver Telegram remarks: "We are convinced that if Lord Salisbury and the Conservatives had been maintained in power in England the Russians would not have dared to lay a hand on British sealers in the North Pacific or anywhere else. But Mr. Gladstone and his friends are in power in England and the Conservatives out of office, and the Russians naturally conclude, judging by Mr. Gladstone's former performances when in office, that they can do very much as they please both in Central Asia and the North Pacific." As the first of the sealer seizures was made before the conclusion of the late British elections, the Russian officers on the Siberian coast must have known beforehand that there was to be a change of government. Smart people those Russians.

After Hamlet.

(SOME YEARS AFTER.)

To be or not to be, that is the question; whether it is nobler in the mind to suffer the damp and clammy feeling of an old-fashioned air tight waterproof, or to buy a porous and comfortable Rigby rain proofed garment, and by opposing the former end your discomforts. To be comfortable and dryly clothed, and be being comfortable to know we end our chances of cold and the thousand natural shocks that flesh is heir to, is a consummation devoutly to be wished. To wear a rubber coat, to hermetically seal ourselves up, perchance to die, aye there's the rub, for in that sleep of death what dreams may come when we have shuffled off this mortal coil, must give us pause, for who would bear the whips and scorns of climate, the Autumn rains, the summer showers, the winter's grippe, when he might his quietus make with a trifle of coin, who would these ills bear, to grunt and sweat under a rubber coat, when Rigby can be had at every corner.

IMMENSE COAL FIELDS.

Bituminous and Anthracite Coal Located on Queen Charlotte Islands.

The Coal is of the Very Best Quality —A Victoria Syndicate Interested.

The steamer Princess Louise, Captain McCallum, arrived from the north this morning with about one hundred passengers among whom were prospectors, surveyors, cannerymen, Chinamen and Indians. She also brought 7500 cases of salmon, 5500 of which are for Victoria, the other 2000 being for shipment over the C. P.R. The trip was a pleasant one with the exception of a few days when it was raining.

Among the passengers was Mr. James Dean, who has been collecting Indian curios for the World's Fair. He has now completed the collection and will immediately get the articles in readiness for shipment to Chicago. The articles brought down on this trip were all obtained at Skidegate. They consist of model huts, a king's palace, burial grounds and many other smaller curios, which with those already at Chicago will make an interesting exhibit.

Dogfish have been very plentiful this year and the fishermen have made good catches. At the Clue oil rendering factory the men are busy putting up the oil. This, Mr. Dean says, promises to be an important industry before long.

AN IMMENSE COAL FIELD.

"Queen Charlotte Island," said Mr. Dean in conversation with a TIMES man, "is an immense coal field. There is both anthracite and bituminous coal of splendid quality on the island. The coal stretches right across the island to the old mine at Massett, it being in several long seams.

GRAHAM ISLAND COAL.

Mr. H. E. Parrish, W. A. Robertson and a party of seventeen men who have been prospectiong on Graham island, the northern island of the Queen Charlotte group, also came down.

Mr. Parrish has been on the island for the past five months in the interests of a syndicate of Victorians, of which Mr. Wm. Wilson is one of the principals. Mr. Parrish to-day told a TIMES representative that the bituminous coal found on the island is the very best he has ever seen. The prospects are simply grand, the island being one huge lump of coal. There is also some anthracite coal on the island.

A large number of samples were brought down and Mr. Parrish is now preparing a report for the company.

A party of surveyors who have been surveying lands at Fort Rupert for A. R. Johnston, came down. Mr. Johnston has taken up several small islands in the vicinity of Fort Rupert.

The Indians have got over the smallpox scare and many of them are now coming south.

The route for a road from the east to the west coast of Queen Charlotte Island has been located.

'TWAS A CHINESE STORY.

There Was Not a Case of Smallpox on Board the Batavia.

A TIMES reporter called on Dr. Macnaughton Jones, Dominion quarantine officer, to-day, to make enquiries regarding the statement made by a number of Chinese yesterday to Dr. Watt, and published in the TIMES, that a boy suffering from smallpox, in an advanced stage of the disease, arrived on the Batavia on July 7th and was put ashore here.

The doctor felt very much grieved that such a statement should be published, and pronounced it "all a lie." "In the first place," he said, "the Batavia arrived on the 6th of July, not the 7th, so that the foundation of the story is not even correct. It would have been impossible for a person in an advanced stage of the disease to have escaped my notice, as I personally examined every man on board the ship. Then had there been a case of sickness on board it would have been reported to me, as the officers are required to report under oath as to the health of those under their charge."

The doctor produced a document headed "Questions to be answered under oath to the Quarantine Officer by the Master, Surgeon or officers of vessels." The answers in this paper sworn to by the captain and surgeon of the Batavia, showed that there had not been a case of illness of any kind on board the ship during the voyage, and that the surgeon had taken the precaution to see that every man on board was vaccinated. With all other vessels the quarantine officer was also very particular and showed papers which bore out this statement.

The doctor further stated that while to a medical mind the absurdity of the statement in question would be apparent it would be credited by the general public, and if not corrected would injure him professionally, and might be used against him by enemies. It was an absurdity, he said, to think that a person who had smallpox well advanced almost two months ago, would still have scabs on his body (unless he died some time ago), and he was surprised that the story told by the Chinamen regarding this case was at all credited by the health officer, and the writer of the item referred to.

Completed Her Charter.

The steamer Danube, chartered by the British Government to carry coal to the warships in Behring Sea, has completed her contract, and commencing on Thursday next will resume her trips on the northern route. The Americans did not carry out their threat to seize her when she arrived in Alaskan waters.

Open on Monday.

The public schools of the city will be reopened on Monday, after having been closed for nearly three months. The principle change in the staff is the appointment of Mr. Paul as principal of the high school vice Mr. Burns.

Another Excursion.

The Loyal Orange lodges of the city are arranging for an excursion to Sidney next Saturday. The steamer Yosemite will probably be chartered for the occasion.

Drink Victoria Lager.

The List Growing.

There are now several hundred names on the list of those desiring the establishment of an infantry corps in the city. Active steps towards organization will be taken shortly.

For the Winter Months.

The dry goods stores which, for several months have been closing on Saturday afternoons, discontinued doing so to-day. They will remain open on Saturday afternoons during the winter months.

Taken by Indians.

The schooner James G. Swan has arrived at Port Townsend from Neah Bay with 1000 seal skins being shipped to Seattle by the Indians who took them off the coast. The Swan also had 30 Indians for the hop fields.

At Port Townsend.

The U. S. coast survey steamer Gedney is at present lying at Port Townsend. She is to return here next week to take observations from the Discovery Island station in her work of completing the triangulation of the straits.

Don't Keep a Zoo.

Frank Downer of Port Angeles wrote to Mayor Beaven the other day trying to prevail upon his worship to buy a recently captured bear. Word was sent back that the Mayor was not passionately fond of bear and the city did not keep a zoo.

Death's Hand.

Lieut. Samuel T. Harrup, a native of Nottinghamshire, England, aged 54, died on Tuesday at his residence in the city. Deceased was a lieutenant in the Sixteenth Lancers for six years, and was also connected with Aldershot camp. He leaves a widow and seven children. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

The First Consignment.

Mr. Beecham, the Douglas street game dealer, received yesterday from Cobble Hill the first consignment of grouse offered the public for sale in this city this season. Mr. Beecham says the birds are going to be scarce this year, although the specimens received are fat, plump and tender.

Will Take an Inventory.

Henry Drum, P. A. Paulson and Henry Allen, of Tacoma, members of the syndicate which purchased the Sayward mill, returned home last night on the City of Kingston. The taking of an inventory of the property purchased is to begin on Monday morning and some day next week will probably see the formal closing of the deal.

The Oddfellows Excursion.

About nine hundred passengers went over to Seattle this morning on the steamer City of Seattle, with the members of the I.O.O.F. lodges of this city. The weather was all that could be desired, and there is little doubt that all are now thoroughly enjoying themselves. A band went with the excursion to liven things up a little.

Swung into Trouble.

Lim Fee, a recent arrival from China, strolled out through the park yesterday evening, and straightway was smitten with the charms of one of the children's swings, and began to amuse himself by taking a ride in it. The swing gave way, and Lim had a fall, and to make matters worse Officer Carter came along and gathered him in. Lim will be required to appear at court on Monday to answer to a charge of destruction of public property.

They Did Not Know.

Among the sealing men there is a general feeling of regret at the seizure and confiscation of the schooner Mountain Chief. She is owned by Indians who could not possibly have known that they were doing wrong in going into Behring Sea. No regret is expressed for the master of the schooner, Captain J. Morehouse, as it is thought that he knew better. Sealing men are of the opinion that it was on his counsel that the Indians went in. If there could be any way of having the schooner returned to the Indians it is the opinion of the sealing men that it should be done.

They Want Recognition.

There will be some sport at the meeting of fire chiefs at Portland, to attend which Chief Deasy left this morning. The chief will be joined at Seattle tonight by Chief Carlisle of Vancouver and Chief Ackerman of New Westminster. The three will join issues in making the fun. The organization was, when formed in Victoria a year ago, named "The Association of Western Fire Chiefs." The secretary, who is from the other side, has changed the name to "The National Association of Western Fire Chiefs of the United States." It can be readily seen what arouses the ire of the British Columbians. They will have the name as it originally was, or have it made to recognize British Columbia. Otherwise they will pull out.

They Made Merry.

Messrs. Dalby and McMicking, J's. P., presided at the Police Court this morning in the absence of Magistrate Macrae, who went away on the Seattle excursion this morning. There were only two prisoners in the box, both Indians, who were captured on the reserve last night while enjoying a spiritualistic seance. Harriet pleaded "nika potlum," and a penalty of $10 or 14 days was imposed. William neglected to dispose of the contents of a bottle, and the more serious charge of having liquor in his possession on the reserve was preferred against him. He admitted the offence, but the case was remanded till Monday, as Bill wants to point out the Chinaman who supplied him with the trouble.

PERFECTLY ASTONISHED

And More Than Pleased.

Cash buyers who took advantage of the low prices at the Sehl-Hastie-Erskine Co's were perfectly astonished at being able to buy so cheaply such lovely carpets, curtains and handsome furniture, while the lamps were almost given away. We are pleased to announce that this enterprising firm has decided to continue the sale at "less than auction prices" for ten days longer, so that everyone may have an opportunity of securing some of the bargains.

FLED FROM ALASKA.

A Stowaway on the Islander Tells an Interesting Story of Doings in the North.

The Daring Flying Dutchman is Held by the Enemy on a Dozen Grave Charges.

The steamer Islander, which arrived from Alaska on Thursday evening, brought a passenger who was not exactly a passenger. He was a stowaway, and has a very interesting story to tell. He is Harry Tesche, hunter on the seized schooner Winnifred, now held in custody at Sitka. Tesche or "Dutch Harry," as his more intimate companions label him, was with Captain Hansen, the Flying Dutchman, and the other six men on the Winnifred, held in custody. He managed to elude the men who were guarding him, slipped aboard the Islander and was there hidden away by a friend. Once out to sea he came up on deck, stated his case to Capt. John Irving and was put to work handling salmon. Now on foreign soil he is beyond the writs of the Sitka officials. A TIMES man found him at the California Hotel this morning and he furnished very readily a full statement of his adventures.

"The Winnifred had only nine men when she left here. At Tonki hunter Lindsay left us, and then the mate went to the Pioneer, of which he assumed command. When we left Tonki, after meeting the Coquitlam, we headed for the sea. It was not long before we were taken. On the evening of June 20th, at about 8 o'clock, the U.S. revenue cutter Rush came upon us and seized the vessel. She took us to Unalaska. There we were all placed aboard the Albatross, and a prize crew from the latter put on the Winnifred. Then we were taken to Sitka, where we have been ever since. The crew, under a guard, has lived in the schooner, but the poor Flying Dutchman was locked up in the jail there. Things are going to go hard with him. They have been after him, and now that they have got him will get satisfaction. The officials at Sitka have filed lots of charges against him. First of all he went into the sea this year. That they have got checked down against Dutchy. Then he received cargo in Tonki Harbor from the Coquitlam they say. Then he is charged with raiding the rookeries last year while in command of the schooner Borealis, of this port. I do not know whether they have anything against him during his command of the Adele, but I know they are pressing these charges. The Winnifred and her crew were not turned over to the British warships as the other schooners were."

"I do not know that they had anything in particular against me or any of the crew, but they wanted us to stay to testify in the proceedings against Hansen and to confiscate the Winnifred. The confinement grew monotonous and I got out."

THE STEAMSHIP VICTORIA.

She Will Arrive Here About the 20th Inst. —A Reception Proposed.

The steamship Victoria (nee Parthia), the first of the Northern Pacific Steamship Company's new fleet, will arrive in Victoria about the 20th inst. She left Hongkong on the 25th of August and will leave Yokohama in a few days for this port. Mr. Connon, the company's agent in this city, will receive word when the boat leaves Yokohama, so that it will be known exactly when she should arrive.

In view of the fact that the company named the first steamer of their new fleet after this city, it has been thought advisable that the citizens do something to show their appreciation of the company's action. Mr. T. B. Hall, president of the Board of Trade, has the matter in hand and some action will be taken next week.

New Line of Steamships.

There is to be a new service of steamers between Victoria, Bellingham Bay and San Juan Island. A new and elegant steamship, the Island Belle, will be placed on the route on Tuesday, Sept. 6th, and will carry passengers and freight between these points. The whole trip will probably be made in daylight, hence very few sleeping berths have been arranged for on the boat. The steamer was built at Seattle and is 110 feet long, 26 feet beam and 7 feet clear in her hold. It is expected that the farmers of the San Juan Islands will patronize this new route for the carrying of their produce to market, and many of them hope to do good business with the Victoria people. At present there appears to be some little difficulty as to the Victoria portion of the route, as the United States laws require that the first port any steamer touches at for this district must be Port Townsend. This would create a serious difficulty as it would take the steamer 60 miles out of its proposed route to call at Port Townsend before touching at the islands. The American consul and others are busying themselves to remedy this difficulty, and directly it is overcome the time bill for the new service will be announced in the TIMES' advertising columns.

Adjourned the Inquest.

Owing to the absence of witnesses the inquest on the body of the late Samuel Harrup was adjourned till Monday. A jury composed of B. J. Perry, C. Lorne, R. Wallace, Thomas Lumsden, E. A. Young and Joseph Kenny was empanelled by Coroner Hasell, and Dr. Foot conducted an autopsy on the body.

Broke the Game Law.

Several summonses have been issued under the Game Protection Act. The cases will come up for hearing next week.

Wounding Cattle.

A farmer in Metchosin district has during the past week had several cattle severely wounded by thistles. One valuable bull was wounded.

Another Grass Fire.

This afternoon the fire brigade was required to look after another grass fire. The chemical engine was taken out to extinguish the devouring element.

Comox School.

J. Sutherland, who has taught school in Comox for four years, will be succeeded in Comox by Mr. J. A. Halliday, formerly teacher in the Victoria school.

Dissolved Partnership.

The wholesale grocery firm of Cowan & Wilson has dissolved. Mr. Maynard H. Cowan will retire from the firm, which will be continued by Wilson & Son. Mr. Cowan, for the present, will be occupied in the building of the Sydney railway.

A Bad Chinaman Captured.

The Chinaman who supplied the Indians, Willie and Harriet, with liquor with which to make merry on the reserve last night, was placed in limbo this afternoon. He refuses to give his name and of course denies the impeachment against him.

A Painful Accident.

Miss Scidmore, who has been to Alaska for the United States Government, is at the Jubilee Hospital suffering from a broken collar bone. She met with an accident while in the north and came down on the Islander for treatment.

THE GLORIOUS MARCH.

"Fair as the Moon, Clear as the Sun, and Terrible as an Army With Banners."

A Sermon Showing the Position of the Church of God at the Present Day.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The week, like others that have preceded it since the beginning of Rev. Dr. Talmage's foreign preaching tour, has been a very busy one. Indeed since July 24, when he preached in the English and American church in Berlin, while en route from Russia to Scotland, Dr. Talmage can scarcely be said to have had a moment's leisure. Services have been held at Edinburgh, Inverness, Aberdeen, Dundee, Glasgow, Newcastle and Sunderland. The sermon for this week is entitled "The Glorious March," the text being from Solomon's Song vi, 10, "Fair as the moon, clear as the sun and terrible as an army with banners."

The fragrance of spikenard, the flash of jewels, the fruitfulness of orchards, the luxuriance of gardens, the beauty of Heshbon fish pools, the dew of the night and the splendor of the morning—all contribute to the richness of Solomon's style when he comes to speak of the glory of the church. In contrast with his eulogium of the church, look at the denunciatory things that are said in our day in regard to it. If one stockholder become a cheat, does that destroy the whole company? If one soldier be a coward, does that condemn the whole army? And yet there are many in this day so unphilosophic, so illogical, so dishonest and so unfair as to denounce the entire church of God because there are here and there bad men belonging to it.

There are those who say that the church of God is not up to the spirit of the day in which we live, but I have to tell you that notwithstanding all the swift wheels, and the flying shuttles, and the lightning communications, the world has never yet been able to keep up with the church. As high as God is above man, so high is the church of God—higher than all human institutions. From her lamp the best discoveries of the world have been lighted. The best of our inventors have believed in the Christian religion—the Fultons, the Morses, the Whitneys, the Perrys and the Livingstones. She has owned the best of the telescopes and Leyden jars, and while infidelity and atheism have gone blindfolded among the most startling discoveries that were about to be developed, the earth, and the air, and the sea have made quick and magnificent responses to Christian philosophers

CHRIST'S STANDARD.

The world will not be up to the church of Christ until the day when all merchandise has become honest merchandise, and all governments have become free governments, and all nations evangelized nations, and the last deaf ear of spiritual death shall be broken open by the million voiced shout of nations born in a day. The church that Nebuchadnezzar tried to burn in the furnace, and Darius to tear to pieces with the lions, and Lord Claverhouse to cut with the sword has gone on wading the floods and enduring the fire until the deepest barbarism, and the fiercest cruelties, and the blackest superstitions have been compelled to look to the east, crying, "Who is she that looketh forth as the morning, fair as the moon, clear as the sun and terrible as an army with banners?"

Yet there are people who are ashamed to belong to the church of Christ, and if you ask them whether they are in such associations they say, "Yes, I sometimes attend the church," instead of realizing the fact that there is no honor compared with the honor of being a member of the church of God. I look back with joy to the most honored moment of my life, when in the old country meeting house the minister of Christ announced my name as a follower of the Lord.

You who are floating about in the world seeking for better associations, why do you not join yourself to some of the churches? An old sea captain was riding in the cars toward Philadelphia, and a young man sat down beside him. He said, "Young man, where are you going?" "I am going to Philadelphia to live," replied the young man. "Have you letters of introduction?" asked the old captain. "Yes," said the young man, and he pulled some of them out. "Well," said the old sea captain, "haven't you a church certificate?" "Oh, yes," replied the young man; "I didn't suppose you would want to look at that." "Yes," said the sea captain, "I want to see that. As soon as you get to Philadelphia present it to some Christian church. I am an old sailor, and I have been up and down in the world, and it's my rule as soon as I get into port to fasten my ship fore and aft to the wharf, although it may cost a little wharfage, rather than have my ship out in the stream floating hither and thither with the tide."

A SAFE REFUGE.

Oh, men and women, by the tides of frivolity and worldliness swept this way and swept that way, seeking for associations and for satisfaction for the immortal soul, come into the church of Jesus Christ. Lash fast to her. She is the pillar and the ground of truth. I propose to speak of the threefold glory of the church, as it is described in the text:

First—"Fair as the moon." God, who has determined that everything shall be beautiful in its season, has not left the night without charm. The moon rules the night. The stars are only set as gems in her tiara. Sometimes before the sun has gone down the moon mounts her throne, but it is after nightfall that she sways her undisputed scepter over island and continent, river and sea. Under her shining the plainest maple leaves become shivering silver, the lakes from shore to shore look like shining mirrors, and the ocean under her glance with great tides comes up panting upon the beach, mingling, as it were, foam and fire.

Under the witchery of the moon the awful steeps lose their ruggedness and the chasms their terror. The poor man blesses God for throwing so cheap a light through the broken window pane of his cabin, and to the sick it seems like a light from the other shore that bounds this great deep of human pain and woe. If the sun be like a song, full and loud and poured forth from brazen instruments that fill heaven and earth with harmony, the moon is plaintive and sad, standing beneath the throne of God, sending up her soft, sweet voice of praise while the stars listen and the seal No mother ever more lovingly watched a sick cradle than this pale watcher of the sky bends over the weary, heartsick, slumbering earth, singing to it silvery music while it is rocked in the cradle of the spheres.

Now, says my text, "Who is she, fair as the moon?" Our answer is the church. Like the moon, she is a borrowed light. She gathers up the glory of a Saviour's sufferings, a Saviour's death, a Saviour's resurrection, a Saviour's ascension, and pours that light on palace and dungeon, on squalid heathenism and elaborate skepticism, on widow's tears and martyr's robe of flame, on weeping penitence and loud mouthed scorn.

She is the only institution today that gives any light to our world. Into her portal the poor come and get the sympathy of a once pillowless Christ, the bereaved come and see the bottle in which God saves all our tears, and the captives come, and on the sharp corners of her altars dash off their chains, and the thirsty come and put their cup under the "Rock of Ages," which pours forth from its smitten side living water, sparkling water, crystalline water, from under the throne of God and the Lamb. Blessed the bell that calls her worshipers to prayer. Blessed the water in which her members are baptized. Blessed the wine that glows in her sacramental cups. Blessed the songs on which her devotions travel up and the angels of God travel down.

SURVIVES ALL STORMS.

As the moon goes through the midst of the roaring storm clouds unflushed and unharmed, and comes out calm and beautiful on the other side, so the church of God has gone through all the storms of this world's persecution and come out uninjured, no worse for the fact that Robespierre cursed it, and Voltaire carricatured it, and Tom Paine sneered at it, and all the forces of darkness have bombarded it. Not like some baleful comet shooting across the sky, scattering terror and dismay among the nations, but above the long howling night of the world's wretchedness the Christian church has made her mild way, "Fair as the moon."

I take a step further in my subject—"Clear as the sun." After a season of storm or fog how you are thrilled when the sun comes out at noonday! The mists travel up hill above hill, mountain above mountain, until they are sky lost. The forests are full of chirp and buzz and song, honey makers on the log, bird's beak pounding the bark, the chatter of the squirrel on the rail, the call of a hawk out of the clear sky make you thankful for the sunshine which makes all the world so busy and so glad. The same sun which in the morning kindled conflagrations among the castles of cloud, stoops down to paint the lily white and the buttercup yellow and the forgetmenot blue.

What can resist the sun? Light for voyager on the deep, light for shepherds guarding the flocks afield, light for the poor who have no lamps to burn, light for the downcast and the weary, light for aching eyes and burning brain and consuming captive, light for the smooth brow of childhood and the dim vision of the octogenarian, light for queen's coronet and sewing girl's needle. "Let there be light."

Now, says my text, "Who is she that looketh forth clear as the sun?" Our answer is the church. You have been going along a road before daybreak, and on one side you thought a saw a lion, and on the other side you thought you saw a goblin of the darkness, but when the sun came out you found these were harmless apparitions. And it is the great mission of the church of Jesus Christ to come forth "clear as the sun," to illumine all earthly darkness, to explain as far as possible all mystery, and to make the world radiant in its brightness, and that which you thought was an aroused lion is found out to be a slumbering lamb, and the sepulchral gates of your dead turn out to be the opening gates of heaven, and that which you supposed was a flaming sword to keep you out of paradise is an angel of light to beckon you in.

SUN OF THE CHURCH.

The lamps on her altars will cast their glow on your darkest pathway and cheer you until, far beyond the need of lantern or lighthouse, you are safely anchored within the vail. Oh, sun of the church, shine on until there is no sorrow to soothe, no tears to wipe away, no shackles to break, no more souls to be redeemed! Ten thousand hands of sin have attempted to extinguish the lamps on her altars, but they are quenchless, and to silence her pulpits, but the thunder would leap and the lightning would flame.

The church of God will yet come to full meridian, and in that day all the mountains of the world will be sacred mountains, touched with the glory of Calvary, and all streams will flow by the mount of God like cool Siloam, and all lakes be radiant with Gospel memories like Gennesaret, and all islands of the sea be crowned with apocalyptic vision like Patmos, and all cities be sacred as Jerusalem, and all gardens luxuriant as paradise, with God walking in the cool of the day. Then the chorals of grace will drown out all the anthems of earth. Then the throne of Christ will overtop all earthly authority. Then the crown of Jesus will outflame all other coronets. Sin destroyed. Death dead. Hell defeated. The church triumphant. All the darknesses of sin, all the darknesses of trouble, all the darknesses of earthly mystery hieing themselves to their dens. "Clear as the sun! Clear as the sun!"

Further, "Terrible as an army with banners." I take one more step in this subject and say that if you were placed for the defense of a feeble town and a great army were seen coming over the hills with flying ensigns, then you would be able to get some idea of the terror that will strike the hearts of the enemies of God when the church at last marches on like "an army with banners."

You know there is nothing that excites a soldier's enthusiasm so much as an old flag. Many a man almost dead, catching a glimpse of the national ensign, has sprung to his feet and started again into the battle. Now, my friends, I don't want you to think of the church of Jesus Christ as a defeated institution, as the victim of infidel sarcasm—something to be kicked and cuffed and trampled on through all the ages of the world. It is "an army with banners." It has an inscription and colors such as never stirred the hearts of any earthly soldiery.

We have our banner of recruit, and on it is inscribed, "Who is on the Lord's side?" Our banner of defiance, and on it is inscribed, "The gates of hell shall not prevail against us." Our banner of triumph, and on it is inscribed, "Victory through our Lord Jesus Christ!" and we mean to plant that banner on every hilltop and wave it at the gate of heaven.

CHRIST OUR LEADER.

With Christ to lead us we need not fear. I will not underrate the enemy. They are a tremendous host. They come on with acutest strategy. Their weapons by all the inhabitants of darkness have been forged in furnaces of everlasting fire. We contend not with flesh and blood, but with principalities and powers and spiritual wickedness in high places; but if God be for us, who can be against us? Come on, ye troops of the Lord! Fall into line! Close up the ranks! On, through burning sands and over frozen mountain tops, until the whole earth surrenders to God. He made it, he redeemed it, he shall have it. They shall not be trampled with hoofs, they shall not be cut with sabers, they shall not be crashed with wheels, they shall not be cloven with battle axes, but the marching, and the onset, and the victory will be none the less decisive for that.

With Christ to lead us, and heaven to look down upon us, and angels to guard us, and martyr spirits to bend from their thrones, and the voice of God to bid us forward into the combat, our enemies shall fly like chaff in the whirlwind, and all the towers of heaven ring because the day is ours. I divide this army with banners into two wings—the American wing and the European wing. The American wing will march on across the wilds of the west, over the tablelands, and come to the ocean, no more stopped by the Pacific than the Israelites were stopped by the Red Sea, marching on until the remaining walls of China will fall before this army with banners, and cold Siberia will be turned to the warm heart of Christ, and over lofty Himalayan peaks shall go this army with banners until it halts at Palestine.

SUPERSTITION AND INFIDELITY OVERCOME.

The European wing will march out to meet it, and Spanish superstition shall be overcome and French infidelity shall be conquered; and over the Alps, with more than Hannibal's courage, shall march that army with banners, and up through the snows of Russia, vaster in multitude than the hosts that followed Napoleon into the conflict. And Hungary and Poland, by the blood of their patriots and by the blood of Christ, shall at last be free. And crossing into Asia the law shall again be proclaimed on Sinai, and Christ in the person of his ministers will again preach on Olivet and pray in Gethsemane and exhibit his love on Calvary. And then the army will halt in front of the other wing, the twain having conquered all the earth for God.

History tells us that one day the armies of Xerxes shouted all at once, and the vociferation was so mighty that the birds flying through the air dropped as though they were dead. Oh, what a shout of triumph when all the armies of the earth and all the armies of heaven shall celebrate the victory of our king—all at once and all together: "Halleluiah! for the Lord God omnipitent reigneth. Halleluiah! for the kingdoms of this world have become the kingdoms of our Lord Jesus Christ."

When the Prussian army came back from their war they were received in 1866 at the gates of Berlin, and a choir stood above the gates, and as the first regiment advanced and came to the gates the choir, in music, asked them what right they had to enter there. And then the first regiment, in song, replied, telling over the stories of their conflicts and their victories. Then they marched in, and all the city was full of gladness and triumph. But oh, the greater joy when the army with banners shall come up to the gates of our king!

It will be choir to choir, music to music, hosanna to hosanna, halleluiah to halleluiah. Lift up your heads, ye everlasting gates, and let them come in. Then will be spread the banquet of eternal victory, and the unfallen ones of heaven will sit at it, and all the ransomed of earth will come in and celebrate the jubilee with unfading garlands on their brow telling of earthly conquests.

All the walls of that celestial mansion will be aglitter with shields won in victorious battle and adorned with the banners of God that were carried in front of the host, harp shall tell to harp the heroism in which the conquerors won their palm, and the church that day will sit queen at the banquet. Her wanderings over, her victories gained, Christ shall rise up to introduce her to all the nations of heaven, and as she pulls aside her veil and looks up into the face of her Lord the King, Christ shall exclaim, "This is she that looketh forth as the morning, fair as the moon, clear as the sun and terrible as an army with banners!"

One mile open, prizes, gold and silver medals.

Half-mile C. W. A., championship of British Columbia, prize, gold medal.

Half-mile progressive team race, prize, three gold medals.

Ten mile open handicap race, prize cup.

THURSDAY.

At 1 p.m. there will be a parade of all the stock on exhibition. This, it is expected, will last two hours, and will be followed by a lacrosse match between senior teams, Mainland vs. Island.

FRIDAY.

The feature of the afternoon will be the horse racing, for which good prizes are offered. The entrance list is as follows:

Running half mile and repeat; purse $100, 5 per cent. added.

Trotting and Pacing, for horses that have never been entered in a public race, to be driven by the owner; heats 3 in 5; distance one mile; prize, cup.

Hurdle Race, one mile; lady or gentlemen riders; prize, cup.

In the running and novelty races, five per cent. of the purse is to be added.

THE CHARMS OF MUSIC.

The Y.M.I. Concert and Dance an Enjoyable Affair.

The Y.M.I. social and dance in Philharmonic Hall yesterday evening proved very enjoyable. There was not a large attendance, especially during the earlier part of the evening, but when the dancing began it was demonstrated that there were just enough to have a good time, 50 couple participating in what most young people vote the most pleasant pastime of the day.

The entertainment began shortly after 8 o'clock, a very acceptable musical programme forming the first part. The following were the contributions:

Piano Duet.....Mr. and Miss F. Sehl
Solo.....Miss Goddyn
Mandolin and Guitar Duett.....
Messrs Borelli and Boothe.
Violin Solo .....Master Bantly
Solo.....Mr. Lang
Banjo and Guitar Duet.....
Messrs. McDowell and Boothe
Recitation..... Mr. D. McGregor
Mandolin and Piano Duet.....
Messrs. Borelli and Sehl

Notwithstanding the fact that there was an eagerness to begin the second part of the programme, Master Bantly and Messrs. McDowell and Booth were encored, and cheerfully responded to the call. After this the floor was cleared, Bantly orchestra struck up a lively air and the mystic muse claimed the attention of the young people for the remainder of the evening. A slight intermission occurred for refreshments, but the dance was begun again and continued till shortly after midnight. The promoters of the social and dance deserve praise for the success of the meeting.

A Swedish-American Play.

In these theatrical days anything that promises amusement to lovers of novelty is pretty sure to be well patronized. A decided novelty will be presented Thursday and Friday, Sept. 8 and 9, in this city in "Yon Yonson." This Swedish farcical drama is something more than comedy. It possesses the charm of "Fritz" in the simple, big-hearted emigrant, and adds the thrilling situations and elaborate scenic effects of the melodrama. In both of these respects "Yon Yonson" will be novel to theatre goers in that the emigrant is a Swede and gives the soft, rythmic dialect of broken Swedish-English, and in the scenes and situations of the Northwestern logging camp. Mr. Gus Heege, the author, is his own "Yon Yonson"—Americanized John Johnson—and his own experiences in the lumber regions have been skilfully woven into the plot. Mr. Heege is the originator of the Swedish dialect on the stage and his impersonation of the title role of "Yon Yonson" has been pronounced equal to Jefferson's "Rip," or the "Fritz" of the late Mr. Emmet. The scene of the breaking of the log jam is said to be one of the most thrilling scenes ever put on the American stage. Certainly no greater novelty in the realistic line has ever been seen in this country, and no doubt there will be great audiences present on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 8 and 9.

At the Quarantine Station.

The following is the report of the medical officer at the Jubilee station. It will be noticed that one new case is admitted almost daily, as if to make up for the one daily discharged:

JUBILEE HOSPITAL QUARANTINE,
Midnight, Sept. 2, 1892.

COMFORT FOR THE AGED.

Food Better Than Medicine Dosing.

"The old folks do not need medicine so much as they do pure and nourishing food," said a physician yesterday. "In three or four score years of life, a great many tons of food have been digested and this wear and tear results in weakness of the digestive organs. Stimulate them with medicine," he continued, "and the effect is speedy destruction. Nourish them with an easily digested and strengthening food, and strength will return."

The best physicians in the world endorse this theory. They have found that Lactated Food, the perfect food for infants, whose digestive organs are of the weakest, gives the same happy success when prepared for the aged.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

Large sums of money are often spent upon city works that are supposed to be permanent improvements. The citizens usually are ready to ratify any by-law pointing to the beautifying and general improvement of our city. Even the adverse vote on the proposed five by-laws on August 22nd, showed a majority of votes in favor of the most necessary of them. Much, however, of the money is spent uselessly, because little if any care is given afterward to maintain the improvements made. My attention was called yesterday to the neglected state of the young trees in Beacon Hill Park. They are perishing for want of water; the long continued drought, dry winds, and sandy soil deal hardly with the tender sapling. Where is the park keeper? What are his duties? Why should the hundreds of dollars spent upon the ornamentation of the park, Victoria's playground, be utterly lost? Common sense as well as honesty teaches that due regard should be paid to city property.

I admit that the offices of the Mayor and Aldermen are not sinecures. Probably they earn their money as much as any of the citizens of Victoria. But I want them to look after the interests of the city to the best of their ability without fear or favor. If a thoroughly outspoken, incorruptible, fearless man takes his place in the civic chamber, I augur for him a most successful career. Here we have inspectors that do not inspect, workmen that do not work, policemen that neglect their duties, civic property going to waste, sprinklers that hover around the neighborhoods of the city officials, roads choked with dust and filth, and yet it appears to be nobody's business. Let our aldermen form themselves into committees of inspection, and—well, I will provide employment sufficient for them to escape the reproach of Dr. Watt's couplet:

Satan finds some mischief still
For idle hands to do.

Is it true that Victorians are undersized people? A gentleman late from San Francisco told me that he was struck with the difference in the height of the American and English people. I have never visited the city of the Golden Gate but if they are such veritable sons of Anak, giants in stature, I beg humbly to submit to Lord Rosebery that he settle the sealing dispute at once. Perhaps the warmer climate of California has something to do with the abnormal growth of its inhabitants.

The impression in England is that Americans are rather more stunted than overgrown in size. A lecturer, some years ago, who had travelled from the mother country to America, was giving a lecture on "America and its people." In the course of his remarks he intimated that Americans were much shorter than Britishers, and asked if there were any Americans present if they would stand up and confirm his remarks. The Rev. Phillips Brooks, Episcopal clergyman of New York, who was in the audience, at once rose, his height being, I think, 6 feet 2 inches, and said, "I am an American and do not agree with the lecturer." Following him another gentleman rose standing 6 feet 3 inches, and said, "I am an American and do not agree with the lecturer." Immediately following him another gentleman rose, standing 6 feet 5 inches, and said, "I am an American, and ——" Here the audience fairly roared with laughter, and the discomfiture of the lecturer was only equalled by the delight of the patriotic Americans. ### NANAIMO NOTES.

Successful Pleasure Trip—Sporting and Social News of the Diamond City.

NANAIMO, Sept. 3.—The moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Y. M.C.A., last evening by the steamer Joan was highly successful. The steamer was densely crowded and the band found it rather difficult to get a space suitable for themselves. The trip was made to Nanoose Bay and was much enjoyed by those who went. The vessel returned to the wharf at 11 o'clock, and the excursionists returned to their homes well pleased with the trip.

There was an abundance of grouse peddled round the city yesterday, although it was the first day of the opening season. Some of the birds looked as though they had been shot for some days, and had been anxiously waiting for September 2nd to come. Nearly all the young resident sports were nowhere to be found yesterday, having no doubt gone out in search of birds. There is an abundance of shooting to be had on Gabriola Island and Cedar district, where the birds are known to be plentiful.

The "active" members of the fire department and a few guests were entertained to a neat banquet in the hall on Thursday evening, in honor of the birthday of one of the "laddies." The boys, as a rule, know how to enjoy themselves, and this was no exception to the general rule. The supper was prepared by Mr. J. Black and did credit to him. The usual formality of toasts was gone through with great enthusiasm. The affair was brought to a close about 2 o'clock next morning, and every one present was delighted with the way in which the evening had been spent.

The race between McLean and Dignan comes off to-night over the usual course, except that it will be two miles instead of three. The stakes are for $200 a side and McLean is to allow Dignan 90 feet at the finish, although the last race was was won by the latter after McLean had got a hundred yards start. It is the general belief that McLean can win if he so choose, and consequently the betting is on him. Dignan, however, thinks he is the better man and is confident of winning.

The excursion to have been given under the auspices of St. Paul's Institute had to be posponed owing to a thunderstorm. The event will take place on Monday night, weather permitting. There will be also a conversazione in the hall on Wednesday night, after the marriage of two young and popular citizens. There will be no charge to the latter as it will be given more to celebrate the auspicious event than for anything else.

CANOEING.

IN SIWASH STYLE.

Tom Watson and Wm. Neil are anxious to find out who is the better paddler, and will race in "Siwash" canoes on Monday evening. The course will be around Deadman's island and return, for $5 a side.

LACROSSE.

BLUE BELLS HAVE AN INNINGS.

The James Bay and Blue Bells lacrosse teams met on Beacon Hill yesterday afternoon, and played their second championship match. The latter, after a hard-fought battle, succeeded in defeating their opponents by two goals to one. C. Blain, Victoria's swift sprinter, acted as referee, but was not fast enough to keep up with his youthful charges, the Bays during the third game playing thirteen men.

AT BROCKTON POINT.

The tenth scheduled game in the championship series was played ot Vancouver this afternoon between the Westminsters and the Vancouvers. A. E. McNaughton, of this city, was selected as referee to oversee the play.

THE RING.

SORROWING FOR OLD TIMES.

An old Lancashire man who has been here for the last 15 years was lamenting to a TIMES man to-day the decline of English pugilism He was also feeling badly "cut up" at losing $200 on the Pritchard-Hall fight. "Ah, boy, the good uns is gone for good an' all, I'm afeared. When I was a young chap things was totally different. There wor men in them days, men. Naow I thocht this here Ted Pritchard wos one ov 'em, an' I looked to see him baste that Hall good, but the old times is gone, wuss luck, and I'm pretty sartin as they'll come again no more. Why, man, d'ye think as 'ow Hall or Sullivan or Corbett or th' likes ov 'em could 'a stood afore Tom Sayers or Jem Mace or 'Hammer' Lane or Tom Molyneux? Naw, they couldn't; no sech thing I tell 'ee. Them wos men as 'ad 'earts in their carkisses, an' wouldn't gin up for a bit o' a crack on the 'ead."

"What do you think of Charley Mitchell, then?"

"Not but a kid 'longside o' th' men I've mentioned, lad But I'm done o' fightin' now its got into th' hands o' them —— Americans an' Owstralians."

"Have you anything on the Sullivan-Corbett match?"

There was a twinkle in the old codger's eye as he muttered something about: "Oh, a matter o' ten pun' or so on Sullivan," and moved off with a dejected smile.

TO SEE THE BIG MILL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Anchor Line steamer City of Rome, which sailed from Glasgow, Aug. 25, arrived at quarantine late last night. She has on board a number of pugilists and sporting men bound for the fight at New Orleans. Among them are Joe Choynski, Peter Jackson, Parson Davies and Warren Lewis. It was stated at the office of the Anchor Line that all the cabin passengers would be landed this afternoon and the sports may still be in time to witness the Sullivan and Corbett fight.

A BRAVE OFFICER.

He is Presented With a Gold Medal for an Act of Heroism.

From the London Globe.]

Lieutenant W. B. Huddleston, Royal Indian Marine, has just been presented by Captain Hext, C.I.E., Bombay, in the presence of all the marine officers in port, with the Stanhope medal for for the most meritorious act in saving life in the previous year. The circumstances under which this act took place were as follows: In December, 1890, the marine survey steamer was engaged in trawling in 1800 fathoms in the Bay of Bengal. The officers and most of the ship's company happened at the time to be at breakfast and Mr. Huddleston and the gunner of of the ship, Mr. Peterson, along with a few lascars of the watch, were looking after the trawl. As the ship drifted with the trawl down, three large sharks appeared swimming around the ship on the lookout for anything that might be thrown overboard. In these circumstances it is the custom (not exclusively, perhaps, for the benefit of the naturalist's department) to put out the shark line, and accordingly the gunner baited the shark hook and shot it overboard. It was almost immediately gorged, and one of the sharks was hooked fast. It is no easy matter to haul on board a struggling shark weighing several hundredweights, and so the gunner, in accordance with tradition, brought forward a loaded rifle to shoot the unmanageable beast withal. But in the excitement of the moment, and in his anxiety to get as close as possible, the eager marksman fell overboard. By virtue of that curious paradox so commonly illustrated by sailors and fishermen, the man could not swim; but what was worst was that there were the other sharks close by, attracted by the splashing of their captured mate.

Without waiting to pull off his coat or kick off his shoes, Mr. Huddleston at once jumped overboard to the rescue; and it was not until he had got hold of the gunner and had seen him safely hauled on board that he began to think of himself escaping from imminent danger—for one of the sharks was already smelling at the brave young officer's cap, which had fallen off and was drifting slowly away. This act of devotion was brought to the notice of the authorities by the commander of the Investigator, the lamented Captain Hoskyn, and was by them reported to the Royal Humane Society; and Mr. Huddleston, in May last year, received the silver medal of the society, pro cive servato. The act has now been singled out from the several hundred acts of bravery recognized by the society for the highest honor that the society can confer, and Mr. Huddleston is now decorated with the Stanhope gold medal, the first to be won by an officer of the Indian Marine.

GOLD AND SILVER SHOES.

Expensive Footwear for a Colorado Bank President's Horse.

Denver Times.]

The original Cowboy Band, which visited Denver and preceded the Philadelphia commandery in the parade, is the especial pet of the people of Pueblo, where its headquarters are. Many substantial evidences of appreciation have been given to the band, and the other night at the Windsor Hotel Jack Sinclair, the leader, was presented with a revolver the like of which was never seen before. It is a Colt's 45-caliber, with mother-of-pearl handle, upon one side of which, hand-carved, is the head of a buffalo. Colorado gold of different shades, beautifully engraved and chased, is inlaid along the stock and barrel, mingled with crusted silver in appropriate designs. Studded all over the gun are precious stones, diamonds, garnets, turquoise and opals in abundance. The ornamental work was done by Charlie Otero of Pueblo, himself a member of the band. The Colt's Company presented the gun, without the precious metals, and the citizens of Pueblo did the rest. This unique shooting iron is valued at $500. Jack didn't have much to say when the gun was presented to him. He was overcome. But he signified his gratitude by eloquent action, which allayed thirst.

Something characteristic of the hustling qualities of E. H. Martin, the president of the band, was done recently. Mr. Martin is known as "Jack" to his friends, and he had a fine saddle horse which he had brought down from Silverton. As soon as the animal arrived he was taken to a blacksmith's shop and on his fore feet were placed two shoes made of Cripple Creek gold. On his hind feet were fastened two shoes of Creede silver. This horse was led in advance of the band. A bridle and saddle expressly made by I. C. Galup of Pueblo, encrusted with silver and gold, caparisoned the steed.

A New Theory.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The California fruit and commission men are going to send a protest to the Secretary of the Treasury against the admission of European fruit unless it is quarantined for 40 days. They maintain that there is no better carrier of the disease than fruit from cholera-scourged countries.

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.
